NEW SERIES.

SEDALIA, MISSOURI, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1892.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

WILL NOT ACCEPT.

WHITNEY WANTS NO POSITION IN THE CABINET.

The Ex-Secretary Talks Frankly and Emphatically on the Subject of Office.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—All speculation as to a cabinet position for ex-Secretary W. C. Whitney was put at rest to-day by the positive and emphatic declaration of the gentleman that he would accept no position in the cabinet.

It has been agreed by politicians generally that Mr. Whitney could have anything he desired at the hands of President Cleveland, as he possesses the confidence of Mr. Cleveland probably in a higher degree than any other man. His services to his party and to the country have been so great that there was a general desire that Mr. Whitney should have a place in the cabinet and his decision will be much of a disappointment.

CHICAGO RATIFIES.

The Big Democratic Victory to be Celebrated.

CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 12.—Arrangements have been perfected by the democrats of this city to hold to-night the biggest ratification meetings and jollification the city has ever known. Twenty overflow meetings have been arranged for, and all the pent-up enthusiasm of the democrats will be expressed.

The pride that Chicagoans feel in the elevation of Gen. Stevenson to the vice-presidency is only equalled by their joy at having landed Illinois safely in the democratic column and elected their state ticket.

GONE REPUBLICAN.

California Goes for Harrison and Protection.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Nov. 12.—The result of the election in this state is settled at last by the complete official returns which give the state to the republicans by about 3,000 plurality. The election was closer than was generally expected and it has required the official count to determine the result.

Ohio in Doubt.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 12.—The result of the election in this state is still in doubt and the state is claimed by both parties. There are charges of attempted fraud being made by the democratic managers against the republicans.

A Brooklyn Fire.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 12.—The fire in the cotton warehouse of Harbrick & Co., which has been smouldering for several days, broke out fiercely this morning and at this hour a thousand bales of cotton and jute are blazing. All engines are out. Loss nearly one million dollars.

John Hoey Dying.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—John Hoey, ex-president of the Adams express company, is dying at his home in this city. He cannot live through the night.

ROBBED AT THE PALACE.

How a Stranger Was Relieved of His Money at this Disreputable Place.

The conviction in the police court of Mrs. Ingram, proprietress of the Palace hotel, for keeping a bawdy house, has given a turn to affairs that will be attended to. Porters for this so-called hotel can be found at the depot meeting every train. Taking the results of the police court trial, these porters are liable to arrest and a heavy fine.

As stated before in the DEMOCRAT, the police authorities have been trying for quite a time to get a case against the proprietors of such places and the present move is a good one.

About ten days ago, a young gentleman from a distance came to Sedalia to look over the city with a view to locating. He brought with him letters of recommendation to one of the most prominent families in the city. He was a stranger in Sedalia and when he stepped from the train at night he was approached by a porter of the Palace hotel. Arriving at the hotel, he was anything but pleased with appearances, but concluded to remain all night and find his friends in the morning. He closed his door to lock it, but as there was no lock, he propped a chair against it to make himself secure. When he awoke next morning, he was surprised to find that his room had been entered during the night and that he had been relieved of $18. Seeing that he was evidently in a disreputable place, he made no complaint except to his friends, as he did not wish any notoriety.

From present indications, the proprietress of the Palace hotel and all of her ilk, will have a warm time of it.

His Work Appreciated.

Mr. V. P. Hart, who was for several weeks actively engaged in the canvass, has received a very complimentary letter from Secretary Cook, of the democratic state committee, in which that gentleman says:

"I want to say to you that very few men in Missouri did more to bring about the result than yourself. You were earnest, active and faithful and the result in your county—while there is a slight majority against us—it is better than we had any right to hope for. In behalf of the committee and on my personal account, I desire to thank you for the splendid service you rendered."

Wreck at Otterville.

Freight train No. 129 on the Missouri Pacific broke in two on the Otterville hill this morning and was wrecked, three cars of merchandise going into the ditch.

Passenger train No. 6 for the east was held in Sedalia 35 minutes on account of the obstruction.

Will be Buried Here.

Died, in St. Louis yesterday, Carylton, daughter of Daniel and Louise Littlefield, aged sixteen months. Funeral from Sacred Heart church, in this city, at 2:15 p. m. to-morrow.

Ratification at Green Ridge.

The good and loyal democrats at Green Ridge held a ratification last night. The anvil boomed, the tin horn screeched, eloquent speeches were made and everybody had a good time generally.

WHERE TO WORSHIP.

Cathedral Episcopal.

Rev. Alexander Allen, rector. Celebration of the holy communion at 7:30 a. m.; Sunday at 9:30 a. m.; morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m.; evening services at 7:30 p. m.

Broadway Presbyterian.

At the Broadway Presbyterian church the pastor, J. R. Stevenson, will preach to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. His subject for the morning will be "Cleansing Unto the Lord." Evening text: "By Their Fruits Ye Shall Know Them."

Central Presbyterian.

Preaching service at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 9:30. In the evening there will be song service with a history of some of our favorite hymns. Everybody welcome.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Boy's meeting at 2 p. m. will be addressed by Mr. Langhorne. Subject: "That boy." The boys' orchestra will furnish the music.

At 3 p. m. a mass meeting will be held in the M. E. church, South, to which both ladies and gentlemen are invited. Mr. G. W. Barrett will make an address on the "International work of the Y. M. C. A."

The Glasgow Bridge Case.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Nov. 11.—The Chicago and Alton railway company this morning filed in Judge Stover's division of the circuit court an answer making a general denial of the allegations of the Kansas City and Missouri River Transportation company in its petition for $2,000 damages, filed September 22. In it, it was alleged that the railway maintained a bridge at Glasgow, Mo., less than 50 feet above the channel, and that in consequence the steamer, A. L. Mason, on one of her trips was delayed over four days. It was also necessary to lower her smoke stacks in order to go under the bridge. For this delay the steamboat company asked damages.

Important Facts.

The north and south railroad will be built, so will McGinley Bros. sell you your groceries for very small profits. If you will only try them you will be convinced.

New Messenger Office.

George Elliott has open a messenger office at 410 Ohio street, business entrusted to his care will be promptly attended to.

Ed. Thompson, the popular switchman, has been sick for several days but is now all right again.

STONE TALKS.

THE NEXT GOVERNOR BRIEFLY REVIEWS THE CAMPAIGN.

The Mississippi Valley the Center of Democracy and the West to be Recognized.

Hon. W. J. Stone, the next governor of Missouri, has received thousands of congratulatory telegrams at his home at Nevada.

To representatives of the press he talked freely in regard to the late campaign:

"It would seem to be well summed up in the sanguinary metaphor of Colonel Watterston, 'the republicans have marched through a slaughter house to hospitable graves.' The republican party has been overwhelmed and almost extirpated. I would not be surprised if the development of the near future should show that the republican party is already a thing of the past. The cause of it is chiefly and primarily the force bill and the policy represented in the McKinley bill. It is a protest against centralization. Centralization is paternalism and paternalism in any form is a government never regardless of the masses. Plutocracy is the most despicable form of governmental paternalism. It blights whatever it touches. The producing and industrial classes cannot thrive under its selfish and grasping reign. Any government policy that enables men to grow rich out of opportunities afforded by statutory enactment rather than by honest and unaided individual efforts is a policy whose benefits only a few are able to enjoy and they necessarily enjoy them at the expense of the many."

"The future will, if it be true that we have won the senate as well as the house and presidency, throw a great responsibility on the democratic party. I hope this will prove to be true. If so, the verdict of the people must be enforced. We must return as rapidly as possible to the earlier and better methods of the government. We cannot, of course, leap from one extreme to another at a single bound, but we must not plod along in the old ruts. We must proceed at once to execute the will of the people and still have due regard to the business of the country. We cannot be rash, but we must move along the new highway worked out for us."

"What about 1896? O, Lord, let us finish up with '92 before we tackle '96, but I thank heaven that the west need no longer speak by permission of some other state or section. The Mississippi valley is the seat of empire, and I believe in future will be the seat of democratic power. There are things western and southern democrats want and ought to have that our more fortunate brethren in the east have not been willing to concede to us. Maybe we are close upon the day when we can take what we are entitled to, whether it suits the balance of mankind or not. We will see."

"We have had a great battle of it in the state. Of course everybody understands that the whole fight was made on me. Every trade that could be made on anybody, from president to constable, was made on me and against me. That was the fight that was made in every county of the state. A study of the returns show plainly that the third party republicans, who voted for Weaver, also, to a large extent, voted for Major Warner. Mr. Leonard's vote almost invariably fell behind Weaver's, and Major Warner ran ahead of Harrison, generally about as Leonard ran behind Weaver."

There was a number of ex-soldiers who were induced to vote against me because of my fight while in congress against the abuses of the pension law. A special effort was made to reach this class of voters, but while quite a number I know were influenced against me I am confident the bulk of the democratic old soldiers were true. Considering that the entire force of the opposition was massed and thrown against me, I think I have every reason to be satisfied with the result, and I am as grateful as ever man was or could be for the splendid fight the democracy of the state made."

"Warner democrats? O! as to that there was a large number of voters who have heretofore acted with the republican party who voted this year for Mr. Cleveland and also for Major Warner. There may have been a number of democrats who also did the same thing, though I am sure that the number is not large. However there is no need

PIERRE MOORE IS DEAD.

The Well-Known St. Louis Grocery Drummer Dies of Kidney Trouble at Mexico.

There are few men in the commercial circles of Sedalia who do not know Pierre Moore. For many years this genial traveling man has visited this city. He has a host of warm friends who will be pained to know of his death at Mexico, Mo., yesterday. A dispatch from that city says:

"Pierre Moore, for eighteen years a traveling man out of St. Louis, died suddenly at the Ringo house in this city to-day with kidney trouble. His life was insured for $17,000. He traveled for the Meyers, Schmid & Robyn Grocery company."

Taylor Blow, the St. Louis drug drummer, was scared half to death during his recent stay in Sedalia. He was standing in front of Fleischmann's drug store eagerly discussing the rare merits of some new preparation which his house had just put upon the market, when Dr. Small's old horse, ordinarily as meek as a lamb and quiet as a kitten, reached over and got a good mouthful of Taylor's right arm between his teeth. CIRCULATION.

There are more Sedalia people regular readers of the EVENING DEMOCRAT than any other paper.

FILLEY was eliminated. But so, too, was his party.

It is fair to claim that the people of Missouri have endorsed the democracy.

The president says the verdict of last Tuesday was a condemnation of the high tariff policy of the republican party.

New York was not absolutely necessary to Cleveland's election, but it furnished some mighty encouraging returns early Tuesday evening.

HARRISON has a chance to show respect for the wishes of the people by refusing to fill several positions with members of a party that has just been defeated at a fair election.

To no section of the country does the election on last Tuesday mean more than to the south. The result insures domestic tranquility and guarantees the people of the southern states the blessing of local self-government. This means an influx of capital from other sections and the development of the immense resources of that section of the country.

MEN and brethren, let's get together on the road question. Pettis county needs better roads. Sedalia needs better roads. There is no way to get them except for Sedalia and Pettis county to hire somebody to make them. Let's get it. The election is over and the country is saved. Democrats are cheerful enough to undertake any enterprise and republicans need something to attract their attention from last Tuesday's avalanche. Now, all together for good roads.

THERE are several well known Missourians who are reported to be anxious to serve their country in Cleveland's cabinet. Doubtless the grand old democracy of grand old Missouri could furnish plenty of material, and that, too, of the best variety. But the cabinet is the president's political family and he will probably select the members with the view of having around him men whose advice and assistance he really desires.

SEVERAL friends of the DEMOCRAT, good men and true every one of them and sincere democrats as well, are candidates for the postoffice and their friends are pushing their claims. While the DEMOCRAT would like to see each of them secure the office or something equally as good, to commence the campaign now means a long contest, and possibly one that will result in somebody being disappointed.

OUR CONGRESSMAN.

Missouri has every reason to feel proud of the delegation she sends to congress.

They will compare favorably with the representatives of any state in the union, both in point of ability and conscientious service to their constituents.

Among them none stand higher than our own representative, Hon. John T. Heard, who has just been selected for a fifth term in the house.

During his eight years of service he has constantly grown in the confidence both of his colleagues and his constituents, until at this time his opinions are sought and his counsels valued by the ablest members of the house, and his re-election demonstrates as could have been done in no other way, the value his constituents place upon his services.

Mr. Heard is a working member, and has the rare good sense only to speak when he has something to say and never wastes the time of the house in mere oratorical efforts.

As a result, he is never too busy to attend to matters affecting his constituents, and no member of the house has done better or more efficient work for the people who have commissioned him to represent them.

Hence, his re-nomination has three times come to him as a free tribute from his constituents and without opposition in any county in his district, and his election has been by the full party vote or more.

Few men can look back upon such a record, because few men have merited such a full measure of public confidence.

As a rule the member of congress who is returned to that body is a fair representative of his district.

A mere tricky politician may win an election once, or even twice, but when a man is returned at election after election for ten years, it is proof that he has served the people and been their representative in fact as well as in name.

This is the judgment of a district where the average of intelligence and manhood is as high as in any other in the United States, and as such it is an honor that any man might proudly wear.

But more gratifying still is the fact that his own home county has given him a larger majority than it gave to the popular hero, Grover Cleveland, and that, too, in face of the fact that his opponent was a popular and esteemed citizen of his own town.

The DEMOCRAT congratulates Mr. Heard upon his victory at home as one to be especially proud of as it was given him by those who know him best.

REIGN OF MODERATION.

The democratic newspapers, with creditable uniformity, have treated Mr. Harrison with delicate consideration in his hour of defeat and disappointment. They have revealed no inclination to humiliate him by a show of insolent triumph, says the Kansas City Star. There is a general disposition to treat the result in a temperate and philosophical vein and to point out the causes of the cataclysm rather than to exult over its victims. The opposition, at least, does not hold Mr. Harrison personally responsible for the result. That indignity was reserved for certain members of his own party. It is generally conceded by the democracy that the president has been true to the platform upon which he was elected, and that, aside from the political heresies for which he stood, his administration has been clean and creditable.

On the other hand, the republicans as a rule are facing the result with more courage and candor than is usual with the vanquished side. The leaders admit frankly that the party was defeated by its position on the tariff, and that the policy which it advocated is obnoxious to the people. Some of the more ultra advocates of protection profess to believe that it was the duty of the republicans to stand by the tariff act of the fifty-first congress in the hope of its ultimate vindication, but there is a larger sentiment in the party in favor of aiding a reduction of duties in accordance with the popular will.

The republicans are sore, of course, but they are not resorting to the usual method of advertising their chagrin. They are not abusing Mr. Cleveland nor making him the object of the scurrilous epithets which they heaped upon him when he was elected eight years ago.

They are showing him much of the same respect which the democrats have exercised toward Mr. Harrison, and in a way the situation since the election is quite as singular and remarkable as was the campaign which preceded it. The gratifying conclusion forces itself upon the attention of the country that the American people are becoming better natured, broader minded and higher spirited, and that even in their politics they are taking on the fairest graces of finished civilization—reason and moderation.

BETTER ROADS.

Every progressive man in Pettis county admits that the county as well as the city would be greatly benefited if a system of roads were built that would be at least passable in all seasons of the year.

The subject has been so often presented in all of its phases that there is no longer a question about the costly nature of bad roads.

The business community keenly feels the annual interruption of trade.

The people are able to pay for good roads, and they should go to work at once to supply this most pressing need of a progressive community.

THERE are now 137 boys in the Missouri Reform School at Boonville. The school is in a prosperous condition, says the Boonville Advertiser, and in every respect its management speaks well for Superintendent Drake and his corps of efficient officers, who are sparing no effort in rapidly bringing this Missouri school fully up to the high standard of similar institutions in the east. The day has come when Missouri is taking the lead of all the western commonwealths of our Union in providing for her people many necessary and important institutions that for many years were peculiar to our eastern civilization, and for which the great west was believed to be unprepared.

THE democratic state committee charges the republican managers with trying to steal the electoral vote of Ohio. What do they want with it? It can't possibly do the republicans any good, nor would its loss in any way injure the democrats. A theft of a state's vote under such circumstances would be a piece of wanton and malicious rascality that would call for the severest punishment.

THE president's Thanksgiving proclamation is one of his most beautiful productions, says the Parsons Sun. There is one little touch that comes so evidently from the heart that it will appeal to the heart of every good man and woman in the land. "He has given His grace to the sorrowing." The people will thank God that the president can say this and feel it.

THE Boonville Republican this week contained one rooster, but it was in Bob Campbell's advertisement and Editor Redman blushed when he saw it.

CAREFUL estimates and official returns indicate that Cleveland leads Harrison at least 350,000 in the popular vote.

BAGGAGE CHECKS.

HOW THE CONVENIENT SYSTEM WAS INVENTED.

It Grew From the Thoughtfulness of a Musician and Was Adopted By the Railroads.

Probably every reader of the DEMOCRAT has at some time or other had baggage checked by a railroad company and upon arriving at his journey's end received his own without trouble or delay.

But how many know how the system of checking baggage came to be invented?

Mr. U. D. Merrell, of Union City, Mich., tells the story of the invention to the Chicago Tribune as follows:

"John Palmer, of my town, is the inventor of the baggage checking system. I will tell you his story as he told it to me. John Palmer was born in England some eighty-two years ago and came to the United States in 1829, and to Union City in 1835. In those early days it was in great demand, for his violin charmed many and many a winter night. One great annoyance he experienced was the constant trouble people had in finding their coats, hats, wraps, robes, etc., after the party broke up. Well, it was announced that there was to be a big dance at Burlington on Thanksgiving evening, about 1850, and Mr. Palmer was to have charge of the music. He knew that there would be a terrible crowd there and that there would be lots of trouble with the clothing, and he went to work to devise a plan to obviate it.

"Well, after studying on it for a long time he had solved the mystery. He got out eight cards and marked them in pairs—1, 1, 2, 2, 3, 3, 4, 4—and one of the greatest blessings to the business world was born. Now for the first test. He had four children; he took their shoes and stockings, tied each up by themselves, put tags 1, 2, 3, 4 on each lot and put them away. He gave each one the check that corresponded with the check on their shoes and told them to go into the other room and pick out their own by comparing the numbers. Each child got his own. He prepared a lot of checks in the same way for the guests at the party. About the first to arrive were the four railroad men from Marshall. Three took their checks; one would not have the thing and threw it on the floor. When they called for their clothes they had forgotten all about the checks and demanded their clothes. Mr. Palmer asked them for their checks. After hunting some time the three produced their checks and at once received their goods. They had to identify the goods for the fourth man.

"Shortly after that there was another party at Burlington, and among the first to arrive were six railroad men from Marshall, including the first four. They said they wanted their things checked the same as before. They watched the plan the whole evening and went away convinced that they had found a grand idea. Inside of three months it was adopted by the railroads of the United States."

THE Pitcairn Island Socialists.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The latest news from Pitcairn island, the model socialistic community in the Pacific, arrived to day on the American ship, A. J. Fuller, 104 days from San Francisco. The chief magistrate told Capt. Colcord that all the 139 inhabitants of the island were well and contented and happy. There had not been a death in six years and nobody had emigrated. Capt. Colcord exchanged some clothing, books and food with the islanders, for a boat load of bananas, breadfruit and coconuts. The Chief Magistrate said that a British ship had touched at the island three months before. The appearance of the Fuller caused unwelcome excitement among the islanders, but there was no rush for the privilege of going out on the boat. The islanders are the descendants of nine of the mutineers of the British war ship Bounty, who took possession of the island in 1790. Nine Tahitian women were the maternal ancestors of the present rulers of the island, who are nearly white. They are a religious people of primitive tastes, have no money, and hold the land in common.

Wichita's Famous Paving Case.

A dispatch from Wichita says that an amended answer has been filed in the famous Jas. Peritte paving case, in which the city of Wichita has been sued by Robert Wilson, a Chicago contractor for $90,000, for what the city calls a worthless pavement. The case was decided against the city at the last term of the United States circuit court, but time was allowed in which to file an amended answer, and it was filed to-day. It has proved a bomb in official circles. It charges seven members of the then city council with boodling, and says that "the members of the city council that awarded the said contract to the plaintiff, and authorized the mayor of this defendant city to execute the said contract for and on behalf of said city, were unlawfully and corruptly offered and paid by the plaintiff in this action large sums of money in consideration of their voting at the meeting of said council, when the said contract was let, in favor of awarding the said contract to the plaintiff in this action." In the matter of this paving contract corruption has frequently been hinted at, and now the attorneys for the city claim to have proof positive against four men who were members of the council at the time. They are all men of considerable prominence as politicians and business men. The Wichita paving question has gained some celebrity in Sedalia, as it was much discussed when the question of the material to be used on Third street came up.
